Lufthansa Cargo exhibits at transport logistic

Large exhibition with stage program at the trade fair in Munich in Hall B1.101/202 transport logistic once again opens its doors in Munich from 9 to 12 May. At the world's leading trade fair for logistics, mobility, IT, and supply chain management, Lufthansa Cargo is once more exhibiting this year's newest developments and offers in the field of air cargo. However, direct dialog with customers, partners, and the interested public is an important part of Lufthansa Cargo's trade fair appearance.

For the first time this year, Lufthansa Cargo is exhibiting their own stage program. From Tuesday to Thursday, you can expect exciting guests in the afternoon:

In addition, the Frankfurt freight carrier is presenting their own flight simulator, meaning visitors can wage their own flight path under the watchful eye of an experienced pilot.

“Lufthansa Cargo sees itself as well equipped to actively shape the future of the logistics industry, thanks to its innovations and processes,” comments Peter Gerber, CEO of Lufthansa Cargo. “We are looking forward to an intensive and constructive dialog with our customers and partners, so as to be able to provide them with the best solutions for their logistical challenges,” continues Gerber.

Lufthansa Cargo will also be prominently represented in Air Cargo Europe (forum IV in hall B2), taking place as part of the exhibition. Dr Alexis von Hoensbroech, Board Member Product and Sales, has two appearances: On Wednesday at 10 a.m., he will be presenting on the topic of digitization – a dominating theme in logistics. On Thursday, he will participate in the panel discussion on the topic of zero-emission logistics, also starting at 10 a.m.
